
I like what you've done with the place.

Posted by Ailslieger - 2008/02/24 02:17

Hi guys,

I like what you've done with the website. It looks a lot cooler. How are things going with the team?

Iraq sucks, but not nearly as bad as it did last time I was here. I'm living in a nice little "containerized housing unit" which is a fancy name for a trailer, so I'm trailer trash now. I'm going to get an old refrigerator and some other junk to spruce things up outside. The food is good, so I'm going to have to hit the gym regularly to stay even close to rugby shape.

It doesn't look like I'm going to have any opportunity to throw a rugby ball around here, but I'm going to keep myself in shape so I can play some when I get back. Even at my age, I still think there's some gas left in the tank. I played some soccer while at Ft. Bragg and all that did was fire me up to play some more rugby because soccer is really a pussy sport. In one game, I drew four penalties for "rough play," knocked one guy out of the game (his achilles got in the way my foot - that's his fault), and dazed another guy for a few minutes with a head butt (I was going for the ball, I'm just not any good at that header stuff). Of course, since my head is made of rock, it didn't bother me, but it reinforced the fact that I should be playing rugby, not wimpy soccer. While I may not be a good rugby player, I'm a freakin' lousy soccer player.

Keep up the good work, kick some butt this next season, and I'll see you when I get back.

Kris

Re:I like what you've done with the place.

Posted by Crawford - 2008/02/24 15:52

Good to hear from ya man. Any idea if you be back for any games this (spring) season? And what you didn't take a ball with you this time?

Cheers,

matt

Re:I like what you've done with the place.

Posted by Jared - 2008/02/24 20:49

Good to hear from you! Glad to hear things are going at least okay. Look forward to having you back soon!

Re:I like what you've done with the place.

Posted by Ailslieger - 2008/02/25 05:57

I didn't have room to pack a ball and I figured I would just order a new one online and have it shipped here. The problem is, there's no place to play - this place lacks grass. There's also a shortage of potential players. I'll see if I can at least put together a touch game (or maybe a sevens game if I can find enough grass in one spot).

Re:I like what you've done with the place.

Posted by brady - 2008/03/10 19:23

sand is almost as soft as grass. sorry to hear you are there again

Re:I like what you've done with the place.

Posted by Jared - 2008/03/11 08:39

Where there's a blast from the past!

=====

Re:I like what you've done with the place.

Posted by wbrfc - 2008/07/17 12:58

Hail the mighty Ailsieger, who fells BO ridden insurgents simply by making them correctly spell and pronounce his name. (Ya know, ..Schultz would have been a perfectly acceptable German name). God speed over there my rugby brother. Just get back here so we old boys can ruck it up again and show'em how 'old-age & treachery' still makes 'youth & fitness' our bitch on the pitch. Just out of curiosity, do you employ your obligatory, once-a-combat-mission tactic of the injury-time-out fall-down on the battlefield like you do on the pitch over here?! They can only hope to contain you, they can't stop you (or keep you down)! Please zero your weapon a few times for me (head shots preferred), thanks.
AAAROOOO !!!
Kivett (Irun-Hed)

=====